Bomb Explosions in London Continue

The terror campaign attributed by British authorities to the Irish Republican Army continued into its second week with several bomb explosions in London. One exploded outside the Cumberland Hotel near the Marble Arch and Hyde Park. There were no casualties, but windows in surrounding buildings were shattered, and one car was destroyed and others badly damaged. Another bomb exploded as it was being removed from a car at a suburban police station, resulting in injuries to three policemen, one of whom was seriously wounded. In all, 7 high explosive bombs, 18 firebombs and 11 letter bombs have been planted in London and Birmingham since the campaign began two weeks ago. In addition to the 27 August explosion of a letter bomb in the British Embassy in Washington, a letter bomb was intercepted at the Paris embassy the following day and turned over to the French police. Theft of Israeli Passports

One hundred thirty-two Israeli passports awaiting routine visa processing were stolen from the Italian Consulate in Tel Aviv on 5 September, according to a press account quoting Israeli police authorities. The consulate was broken into when the offices were closed, and the passports were the only items taken. Israeli authorities believe fedayeen may have been responsible for the theft. (UNCLASSIFIED)

TWA - Possible Target for Arab Terrorists

An article in the 5 September issue of Al-Muharrir, a pro-fedayeen Lebanese newspaper, noted that TWA aircraft pass through 645 kilometers of Arab airspace daily on the TWA Bombay-Tel Aviv-Rome flight. Information concerning the schedule and route of TWA aircraft through Arab airspace also was sent over Middle East News Agency links between Damascus and Cairo. (Comment: TWA flight No. 743/811 does make the above stops but the flight only skirts Arab territory, and it does not enter Arab airspace. TWA and Alia each have been subjected to five terrorist attacks, more than any airlines except El Al, which has been the target of 11 attacks. See the 5 September issue, page 5.) (UNCLASSIFIED)

Vienna Letter Bombs Sent by Austrian Students

A 17-year old student, the person responsible for sending six letter bombs to various addresses in Vienna, was found dead on the banks of the Danube on 5 September, according to the Austrian press. Local police officials assume the youth, who reportedly had developed anarchist tendencies and a psychopathic hatred of society within the last three years, committed suicide through an overdose of narcotics. In addition to sending letter bombs to a police station and to a home for juvenile delinquents (see 5 September issue, page A3), the youth also sent letter bombs to his foster parents, to a deputy who dealt with educational questions in parliament and to college teachers. The bombs consisted of bundled firecrackers, pieces of glass and a battery-operated fuse. (UNCLASSIFIED)

Burmese Rebels Cancel Plans to Release Russian Doctors

A secret attempt to secure the release of the two Russian doctors kidnapped on 16 April by Burmese rebels has ended in failure according to The Nation, a Bangkok daily newspaper. The plan, engineered by a Thai intelligence group, fell through because the rebels became upset over the capture of Lo Hsing Han, a "drug king" and colleague of the rebels. The rebels became more suspicious when it was reported that the Thais had agreed to turn Lo over to the Burmese government. The plan to secure the release of the doctors reportedly had been received with great enthusiasm by the Burmese and Russian diplomats in Bangkok, and the Thai Foreign Ministry reportedly saw the move as a possible diplomatic gain with the Soviet Union. (For previous reports on the kidnapping, see issues of 25 April, page 13; 16 May, page 9; and 20 June, page 13.) (UNCLASSIFIED)

Indictment of Athens Airport Terrorists

On 20 September the two Black September Organization terrorists who attacked passengers in the Athens international airport on 5 August were indicted on murder charges for trial before an Athens criminal court. The indictment charged the Arabs on seven counts, including willful attempted homicide against 46 people, damaging foreign property, illegal possession and use of arms and explosives, harassing air traffic, and illegal detention of people. At the indictment hearing the two men repeated their earlier statements that they were BSO members and that their orders were to kill passengers bound for Israel but they had attacked the wrong group of people by mistake. (The attack was described in the 8 August issue, page 1.) (UNCLASSIFIED)
